OLIVE OILS

Organic oils from organic soils

Our olive oil selection offers a unique perspective of olive types and countries of origin. Each of the country-specific range of our olive oils are certified for their origin making them authentic representations of their ancient cultures. Because they carry the denomination of origin (DOP) you will know the exact region where these extra virgin oils were sourced. Moreover, each of these olive oils have unique and exciting tastes. For our flavored oils, we have taken these to a new level of excellence by pressing them together with organic orange, lemon, chili, basil, garlic or truffle to create a deep natural taste.

ORGANIC OILS FROM ORGANIC SOILS

In the early 1980s, the Moog family took up residence in the pristine natural landscape of Southern France, and they have passionately devoted their skills to the production of premium culinary oils from certified organic farms ever since. More than thirty years later, BIO PLANÈTE is a leading brand in France and Germany with production facilities in both countries and around 100 employees. The brand's strength is rooted in traditional craftsmanship combined with state-of-the-art technology and innovative processes. Judith Faller-Moog is convinced that natural culinary oils of organic quality require a high degree of competence and experience in equal measure. For this reason, BIO PLANÈTE manages every single production step from the field to the bottle with utmost care, leaving nothing to chance. This begins with the exacting selection of the right oil seeds, kernels, and nuts. Judith Faller-Moog, also an organic farmer in her own right, believes in transparency and fair, long-term partnerships with her farmers. This philosophy is directly reflected in the quality of the oils because organic raw materials are often hard to come by. BIO PLANÈTE is therefore your reliable partner when it comes to finding the best oil for a healthy lifestyle.
